

CONFERENCE: LEARNING IN PROFESSIONAL NETWORKS

LIFELONG LEARNING is more than a fancy catchphrase, it is an ever growing and widespread demand in the contemporary labour market.

It pinpoints the need for the ability to continually and flexibly adjust and readjust one's PROFESSIONAL PRACTICES in order to account for the impact of new knowledge, technologies and digitalized practices.

This calls for FLEXIBLE PROFESSIONAL LEARNING and development that does not substitute existing educational programmes but build on and extend them.

In this one-day conference we will explore and inquire into the potentials and challenges of NEW FORMATS of flexible networked professional development supported by digital technologies.

DATE AND VENUE

Aarhus University, Conference Centre
November 19, 2019, 9.30-17.00
Followed by reception

KEYNOTES

Professor Allison Littlejohn, University of Glasgow
A glimpse of the future: Networked Professional Learning

Professor Thomas Ryberg, Aalborg University
Networked Learning and Professional Development – Challenges for Design and Education

Professor Nina Bonderup Dohn, University of Southern Denmark
Designing for Networked Learning in Professional Development – what and why?

Dr. Yishay Mor
A Pedagogical-Epistemic Domain Language for Networked Professional Learning

REGISTRATION

Conference website and online registration at events.au.dk/LiPN2019
Registration deadline: November 4, 10:00
Conference fee: 495 DKK